OBJECTIVE

My plan for the next term of MEC Vice President is to continue to drive positive change through collaboration and transparency within the new Alaska and Hawaiian MEC. My core focus will be to foster an environment of trust and mutual respect by working closely with the MEC, Local Officers, and all committees, ensuring our leadership remains effective, present, and approachable. I will leverage my visibility and engagement, including my expertise in social media, as well as reaching those who may not have a social media presence, to connect deeply with our membership and help inspire the next generation of union leaders.

My involvement with the San Diego Labor Council helps foster crucial relationships with other labor groups; I plan to use this experience to help the locals do the same in their cities and beyond.

My leadership is firmly grounded in visibility, accessibility, and consistent action. I maintain a direct connection with our workforce by flying at least one sequence per month and I am committed to regularly attending Local council meetings in all of our bases. This hands-on approach provides firsthand understanding of our members' daily challenges and needs, an approach that has defined my three terms as Local President. Furthermore, my close working relationship with the MEC President ensures I am fully prepared and informed to seamlessly step in and execute the duties of the President at a moment's notice when they are occupied with other meetings or negotiations.
